Is it the truth?

Is it fair to all concerned?

Will it build goodwill and better friendships?

Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

From Your Editor: (from Banc Investment Daily)

Market Risk: A Bank of America Merrill Lynch Fund Manager Survey finds 84% say the US is the most overvalued market – a new record.

Savings: A Princeton Survey Research Associates International survey finds more than 30% of Americans have saved enough money to cover 6 months' worth of expenses, marking a 7Y high. At the other end of the spectrum, 24% said they had no savings, a 6Y low. Unfortunately, Bankrate research finds 32% of those ages 53 to 62 said they have nothing saved, which is more than any other group.

Financial Support A Wells Fargo/Gallup poll of US adults finds 32% are providing assistance to an adult child, parent or both. Of this group, 75% were doing so to assist an adult child, 19% were helping a parent and 6% were assisting both. In addition, the survey found 46% of respondents overall, who have one or more grown children, said they were providing them with financial support.

George Washington's Rules of Civility and Decent Behavior... (con't)

Rules of Civility & Decent Behavior In Company and Conversation is the name of a list best known as a school writing exercise of George Washington, who became the first president of the United States of America. Most of the rules have been traced to a French etiquette manual written by Jesuits in 1595.

9. A man ought not to value himself of his achievements, or rare qualities of wit; much less of his riches, virtue or kindred.

Even a man with a 555-foot tall monument in his honor was against the humblebrag. Let others brag on your accomplishments.

10. Speak not evil of the absent for it is unjust.

If we all followed this rule a little more carefully we would be without reality TV.

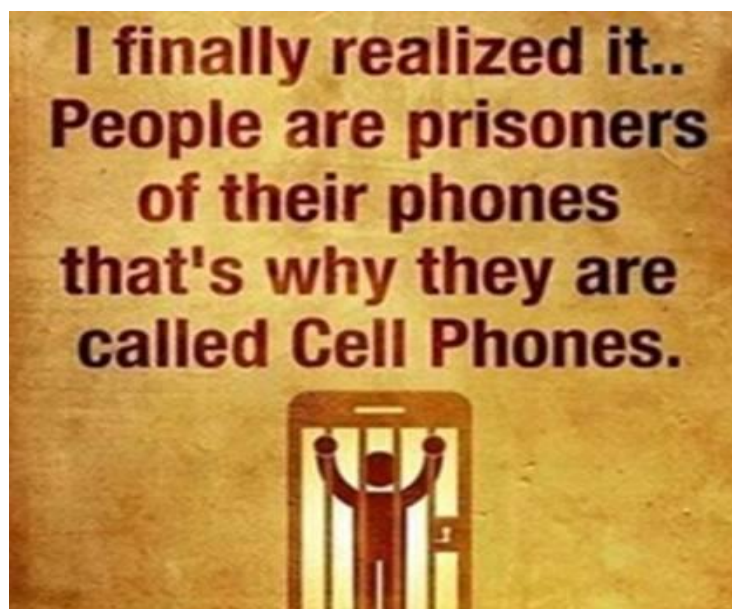

11. Think before you speak, pronounce not imperfectly nor bring out your words too hastily but orderly & distinctly.

Self-explanatory.

12. Drink not too leisurely nor yet too hastily. Before and after drinking, wipe your lips; breath not then or ever with too great a noise, for its uncivil.

Clearly, this is Washington's fancier way of saying, "check yourself, before you wreck yourself."
